JAPANESE FLOWERING QUINCE

JAPANESE FLOWERING QUINCE (Chaenomeles), commonly called "Japonica," has always been popular because it blooms early. The orange or scarlet is more commonly known, but it is now possible to get some real choice sorts that have large flowers in brilliant colors.

Columbia, creamy yellow tinted rose.

1½-2 feet @ $1.45; 2-3 feet @ $1.95.

Corallina, exceptionally fine, rather slow growing. Flowers are coral or salmon-apricot borne in great profusion over a very long period.

1½-2 feet @ $1.95; 2-3 feet @ $2.45.

Grandiflora, lemon and pink.

2-3 feet @ $1.95.

Kermesina semiplena, flesh pink to rich red.

2-3 feet @ $1.95.

Lagenaria atrococcinea, brilliant scarlet.

1½-2 feet @ $1.45; 2-3 feet @ $1.95.

Rosea grandiflora, flesh pink, large flowers.

1½-2 feet @ $1.45.

Semperflorens, rose pink.

1-1½ feet @ $1.25.

Superba perfecta (dwarf). The flowers of this beautiful miniature variety are creamy yellow, tinted pink, gradually changing to rose. Blooms freely in fall as well as in the spring.

1½-2 feet @ $1.95.

SEEDLINGS: A fine lot of seedlings grown from carefully hybridized seeds. While they have not yet produced, we have high expectations and some exceptionally fine varieties should result. They are two years old, not yet well branched.

5 plants for $2.45.

“PORTRAITS OF DOGWOOD”

A book by Adolf Muller, containing pictures in natural color, faithfully reproduced from photographs taken last spring. Any one of these pictures is worth the price of the book, One Dollar per copy. The manuscript contains about 5000 words, a short story of the Dogwood we all know.

When spring comes, and the flower-show parade is on, the climax is reached when the Dogwoods bloom. Then it seems as if the final act takes place. The Dogwoods simply take over the show, as it were, and officially close the season; the curtain falls, and the great display of flowers on trees is over till another season.

Now, this hero of all grandes among flowering trees is an uncrowned native American. When you read this book, perhaps you will feel as I do, that here and now is the time to give this marvel of trees its due. Further than that, to look around outdoor America, and see a veritable storehouse of native American trees and flowers that are unsung and unapplauded, but awaiting our approval.

Certainly you will experience a vivid interest if you will take time to get acquainted with our own American native trees. So please grant me a hearing by reading this really beautiful, artistic book (written by an ardent admirer) or at least have a look at a copy of it.

This book and the author caused more than a quarter million Dogwoods to be planted in Pennsylvania.

Price $1.00 per copy

PACHYSANDRA TERMINALIS

Pachysandra Terminalis (Japanese Spurge) for those dry or shady places. Will thrive in places where it is too shady for grass. A beautiful evergreen plant growing twelve inches high, and when spaced about six to eight inches apart makes a beautiful ground cover, or a perfect border for flower beds.

One-year-old Plants ..... $8.00 per 100, $40.00 per 1000
